ATCC Floating Specialty Calgary 2015

Helen Arnold is becoming an expert at holding a Specialty. This is the 2nd year in a row she has hosted the Western Floater.

The Floater was held on the grounds of Spruce Meadows in south Calgary. The show site is beautiful and the volunteers that provide rides on carts from the parking to the show grounds are a very needed component. The grounds are huge and provide lots of room for conformation, obedience, rally, and agility. In addition there were 35 associated Specialties, including the ATCC Specialty and the All Terrier Club of Alberta. (ATCA) The Alberta Kennel Club (AKC) was the host club for all these Specialties and the Purina National. The lucky group placers on Sunday, a black tie event in the Spruce Meadows Equi-Plex Hall, gained an invitation to enter Crufts.

if you wanted to, you could show three times on Friday, as the ATCA held their Specialty on Friday with Mike Macbeth judging and AKC with J. Sewell from Australia judging.

The weekend was kind to most exhibitors with most everyone winning points or Specials winning breed at least once on the weekend. The results of the Specialties are on page 2 and 3.

It was great to see a relatively new exhibitor, Caitlin Brooks, showing her Cooleamber co-owned dog on the weekend. Dr. Joanne Helm gave some great grooming help and each day this dog looked more polished! Nice work Caitlin.

The ATCC Floater was held on Friday as that was the only day that Ed Bivin was available to judge Airedales. This meant that

Increasing Our Readership

In the last King's Herald we were asked for ideas to increase pet owner membership in ATCC.

I wonder if each active breeder on the membership list could actively recruit at least two new members this year. I believe I will have one, and will work on one more for this year. If we can find out what information both pet and show/performance owners would like in the newsletter, I will try to accommodate.

What about it, breeders? Do you think we can do this?

May 17, 2015 ATCC Specialty Kitchener, Ontario

Judge Lucie Paradis, DMV

I am a veterinarian in small animal practice since 1977, in Quebec city. I have a son Samuel 33 years old, and 2 beautiful grand daughters, 4&6 years old. I am a Pembroke Welsh Corgi breeder since 1978, and began judging in 2000. I have owned , when I was younger, a Wire Fox Terrier, and also an Airedale bitch. I have always loved Terriers. I am definitely a movement judge, and I think that in Airedale, movement should be free and sound. I should do sparring, depending on classes and dogs entered. I will reward a sound dog. Heads are also very important to me: expression is so important in all breed, especially Terriers. Teeth should be white and clean... don't forget I am a veterinarian. The dog has to be well groomed (but not overly) and well showed. I am always very patient with puppies. Veterans are the pride of a breed, I will accept some teeth problems depending on age.... I am very proud to judge my first Airedale Specialty, and thanks to the Airedale Terrier Club Of Canada for inviting me.

Meet a couple of AireCanada Rescue Volunteers from B.C.

Jim & Maureen Scott have been involved with AireCanada Rescue since its inception in 2000. At the time, they owned only one Airedale, Rollingstone's All My Loving (Angie) but six others have followed one by one in the past 15 years. Three of those Airedales were from breeders; three were adopted through rescue including one who was blind and deaf.

Maureen has served as the Coordinator for British Columbia's division of Aire-Canada. Jim (known affectionately within the group as Treasurer Jim) eventually took over paying the bills from Karen Clouston, our original national treasurer.

Both consider AireCanada a full-time commitment. Maureen has attended meetings of National Airedale Rescue in Philadelphia on behalf of AireCanada.

They are pictured here with two of their present three Airedales; Murphee and Princess Daisy. Since this photograph was taken, the family has been joined by Wylie Wiggletoes from Copperfields in Mississauga seen on the right.

FREE To A GOOD HOME

We are so sorry but we cannot keep Buster any longer. He is a pure-bred Airedale Terrier, 8 years old, and obedience trained, from a well-known breeder. He is exceptionally loving and has been our constant companion for the past few years. Sadly, we no longer have time for him with the baby in the house so he must go to a new home. Please contact us via this advertisement.

Although the bright-eyed Airedale pictured above is my boy, Murphee (and no, he is NOT free to a good home but is staying here with my family forever!) advertisements like this one are published daily in newspapers, on kijiji and in other places.

Such dogs frequently end up in unsuitable circumstances because no one offering to sell or give away a dog will bother – or know how -- to check out the appropriateness of the new home. The dog may end up moved from home to home as a result. S/he can be abused or mistreated, possibly, after being a much-beloved family pet, or may end up housed in a barn or back yard forever with no shelter and poor food. Some Airedales are eagerly snapped up by the dog fighting community who love using Airedale Terriers as bait dogs, given that Airedales never back down when attacked.

How would you feel if you saw one of your lovely pups offered “FREE TO A GOOD HOME”? Wouldn’t you prefer to have the dog returned to you or placed in a home which has been checked out thoroughly for suitability?

The AireCanada Airedale Rescue Network is associated with National Airedale Rescue in the United States. NAR is a division of the Airedale Terrier Club of America. NAR volunteers constantly check internet listings across North America for Airedale Terriers whose owners are attempting to find new homes for them. Any such dogs located in Canada are immediately referred to AireCanada Coordinators who promptly make every effort to move the dog into rescue where s/he can be rehomed suitably. If the owner is not prepared to permit AireCanada access to the dog, preferring instead to sell the pet, then AireCanada will send approved applicants to the owners of the animal. In many instances, these applicants are able to purchase the Airedale and offer the animal a good home.

News from AireCanada Rescue: Airedales on Holiday!

Rescue groups often are asked to rehome dogs during major holiday times – summer, Christmas, Easter, etc. “We need/want to go on vacation,” wail the owners, “but we can’t find a kennel, afford a kennel, locate a house sitter or afford a house sitter for Fluffy!”

Of course, I frequently wish to ask these folks if they would leave their child at home with a house sitter or in a boarding facility when a holiday looms....

Please don't leave me behind!

Good friends of ours travel with two large Airedales in a car. The dogs are friendly and nicely behaved. They are kept on leash as appropriate while the family stays in dog-friendly accommodations. Having their dogs at their side, they say, enriches their holiday experience. They would not wish to be parted from their canine friends during holiday time. It would not BE a very good holiday, they admit, if Gator and Elliott were left behind.

My husband and I have traveled with dogs for years. At one point, our method of travel involved a truck and small camper. We managed to stuff two Airedales and a Toy Poodle into this rig quite well. Later, a fifth wheel was purchased “for the dogs,” says my husband. Into the fifth wheel we bundled three female Airedales and, of course, the Toy Poodle.

We took the dogs all over BC, AB, the Yukon, the NWT and Alaska with only the occasional faux pas, mostly of a minor nature, such as the time a door on the truck was opened, causing the Airedale who, unknown to us, was leaning against it, to drop into a small stream! In another instance, a very elderly, quite blind rescued Airedale we owned unexpectedly eluded us and raced off through downtown Edmonton after a cat. Fortunately, he was old and we caught up to him very quickly....

The dogs were trained to travel with us from the time we offered each a home. They were trained to get into vehicles and rolling accommodation such as campers or trailers. Once inside, they learned basic commands such as “GO UP!” which means “Get out from under foot and climb up on our bed or the couch!” They all walked decently on leash and were prone to minding their manners. There was no roughhousing in the RV permitted plus there was an expectation that our belongings would be left alone when we were out and about without our friends. “LEAVE IT!” was a command each dog knew perfectly!

This past summer, we packed up the two Airedales presently living with us – nine-year-old Murphee and three-year-old Princess Daisy – for a trip to the Yukon. Our present mode of travel is a small motor home complete with seat belts in the eating area. Wearing posh new harnesses, Daisy and Murphee traveled here with the seat belts securing the dogs so they didn’t turn into lethal weapons or get hurt in the event of a sudden stop or worse. (Note: do not place belted dogs on a synthetic blanket or rug during travel. The vehicle’s motion in conjunction with the dog shifting about will build up quite a sizeable static electricity charge and cause the dog a lot of discomfort.)

A crate was available for Daisy who prefers to sleep in one at night during trips. Murphee, on the other hand, enjoys snoozing beside me on my bed. A baby gate was also added at the top of the stairs leading to the outside door. This prevented unauthorized exits by our furry friends when fishing gear,

At home, our dogs are fed a fresh food diet. Murphee is unable to digest kibble and becomes violently car sick if he is fed this sort of food so we continue the fresh food diet on the road. This is easier than one would think and requires only some freezer space (or a good quality cooler) for frozen dog food plus some canned fish (sardines, salmon, etc.), fruit, veggies and other odds and ends. After a five week trip, both dogs returned home in very healthy condition – and no one was car sick!

And how did we manage to feed two greedy Airedales in such a small space? First, one must always teach one's dogs to leave food or food dishes belonging to another pet alone. I use "NOT YOURS!" to cue this behavior. Due to lack of floor area, though, we did feed Daisy in her crate and Murphee loose in the kitchen. Both dogs are quite obliging and adapt to new routines with little difficulty. By the end of the first day on the road, Daisy was scampering into her crate at meal time while Murphee would sit nicely in front of the fridge, waiting for his food.

Note that a non-spillable water dish is also an asset when traveling!

We did pack a large supply of pick-up bags so we did not leave little "gifts" behind when we walked the Airedales. We had extra leashes, harnesses and collars in case of equipment failure or loss and large quantities of treats. We also carried a dog sweater and raincoat for each animal. There is, after all, nothing quite like a soggy or cold Airedale unhappily stuck in a small motorhome, cheerfully crawling under one's bedding to get warm or drying wet fur on the upholstery!

Daisy walking with Dad by the Yukon River

The dogs were exercised at least four times daily on leash. They adapted well to this routine but were delighted when we occasionally encountered a dog exercise area in a campsite where they could race about unleashed for a time or visited friends with fenced yards.

Bringing along a bag of favorite toys proves to be an asset when one is traveling with Airedales!

Snoozing on my bed with his toys!

Enjoying the view!

We have found, over the years, that the dogs quite enjoy life on the road. They acclimatize quickly to travel, appear to like all the new scents to be found in the places we visit and, in particular, enjoy being so close to us for the holiday time. I couldn't imagine leaving the Airedales with a pet sitter or in a kennel or asking a rescue group or breeder to rehome the animals when they enrich our vacation time so wonderfully....!

NEW COORDINATOR IN ONTARIO!

We are very fortunate to have Erin Hirst of Ottawa join AireCanada as the new Coordinator for Ontario. Erin brings many skills to her job and has already proved that she will be a huge asset to AireCanada. Erin can be reached through her email address: ontario@airecanada.com

Another National Floating Specialty under our belts. It was a beautiful weekend to host this Specialty again at Spruce Meadows. Thanks to Purina for its continued support of our events. The prizes of food and the great competitor bags were really appreciated.

It was nice to see Andrea Easton and Don Fance back in Calgary for the show. Andrea judged our sweepstakes. There don't appear to be many Airedale puppies out at the moment, but the two in the Baby Puppy class showed a lot of promise.

It was an honor for me to win the Specialty under Edd Bivin with my bitch, Ch Winsea's There's The Trouble. Winning the breed again on Sunday under Nina Karlsdotter and then being in the final top eight in a very tough Terrier Group at the Purina National was another honor.

I would like to thank all the competitors who came from near and far to compete at our Specialty.

Lily, getting the news from Scarlett when she returned from the Twin Cities Airedale Specialty weekend. Scarlett picked up another BOW and 4 point major, plus a RW under Wood Warnall at the Specialty. Shown 5 times in U.S., 1 BOB, 3 BOW, 1 RW. 3 majors, 12 pts.

Lily was glad to have Scarlett home but spent some minutes telling her what the new rules were going to be around the house!!

And for those who don't know your new editor, she has owned Airedales since 1971 and has been grooming and showing since then. Her first litter was in 1974. Please send your news, funny stories, pictures to shawndee@mymts.net for the next issue. Don't wait!! Send NOW!!
